"SHAKE!"

The Principal Business at Charleston.

The Court House Wall Falls this Morning and Creates Terror and Consternation There.

The New York Merchants Report a Brisk Fall Trade and a Bright Outlook.

A STRICKEN CITY.

Charleston as it is To-day—Another Fright.

CHARLESTON, Sept. 6.—At 9 this morning the headquarters of the relief committee at the city building were crowded by the unfortunate earthquake sufferers. One member of the committee is kept busy writing passes on railways to transport the sufferers to other points. The committee prefers to give this character of assistance above all others. Orders for rations are being given. Money is given to no one. During a rush for assistance a large section of the Meeting street front of the court house, opposite city hall, fell out. The report of the fall was equal to an earthquake shock. Immediately the assembled thousands in and out of the buildings began to sway and move like the billows of a storm stricken sea. Cooler heads present mounted chairs and admonished the people to move away quietly and not become excited. The scene was appalling for a short time but quiet was finally restored. The men at work tearing down the frail portions of the court house were ordered to stop work. Acting Mayor Huger says the relief committee is now assisting about one-third of Charleston's entire population. About $95,000 have already reached here. St. Michael's church, the landmark of the city, which was supposed to be completely wrecked, appears to be about the only tall structure which can be permitted to stand. The city appraiser at Charleston thinks $5,000,000 would be required to place the buildings in as good order as before the earthquakes. The pastors held service yesterday in the public parks, as no church was deemed safe enough to occupy. A leading citizen has urged George W. Childs to raise $10,000,000 as a mortgage fund to rebuild the city.

PICKING UP.

The Business Outlook Decidedly Encouraging.

New York, Sept. 6.—The Time's editorial says: "New York merchants, jobbers and commission merchants are generally satisfied with the condition of the trade. Business is picking up and shows in most cases a very decided improvement. Buyers for fall trade have been and continue numerous and in many kinds of business very late hours have to be kept by employers to pack up and forward goods ordered. A noted feature is the increase in orders from the south and southwest. Dry goods men say the outlook for fall trade with them is unusually bright."

Snow at Helena, Montana.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 6.—The signal service office reports a light snow at Helena last night. Thermometer 31 degrees.

Kelly and York, two young men up for larceny, were given a hearing by Judge O'Rourke this afternoon. Kelly got ten days in jail and $1 fine. York got $10 fine and ten days in jail.

Mr. C. H. Newton, who is ill with typhoid fever, is no worse to-day.

THE five leading fashion journals published in Paris have been bought up by a German, and are fast becoming the expressions of German taste in dress. The designs and engraving of the chief papers are all German, and the proprietor does not scruple to puff German goods—"French silks," which are made at Crefeld, Limbach, and Furth, "French textures," which are made at Elberfeld and Augsburg, and other German materials. It is rather startling to believe that Paris will no longer rule the world of fashion, for the influence of the magazines is further spread than that of the exclusive French dress-makers.

JAMES BLAINE, OF MAINE.

PICTURE OF HIS SEASIDE COTTAGE AT BAR HARBOR.

The Reception Room of Blue and Gold. An Important Point in His Seaboard Lake Speech for the Labor Organizations to Consider.

Whether rivals like to admit it or not, as long as he lives, James G. Blaine will be the head of the Republican party. He is like Gladstone with the Liberal party of England in that respect. Since the election of '84 he has been silent, finishing his book, resting and breathing in new nervous energy with the pine air of Maine.

But at the first gun which sounds the note of the fall political campaign in Maine the leader must emerge from his quietude and open the ball. He has always taken part in the state campaign of Maine, and he knew of no reason why he should not do so now. He said:

"I know no reason why I should sit silent now. I am a citizen of the United States, without office or responsibilities. There is nothing to fetter me in any way."

His simple, carefully prepared speech at Sebago lake, has beyond doubt found more readers than any other within a year. Mr. Blaine is always alive, very much alive. Prohibition he considers an issue to be settled by each state for itself.

One passage in the address commends itself to the judgment of all races and all parties. It is the part calling the attention of the various labor organizations to the colored artisans of the south. He says:

"They (the labor organizations), seem to have taken little or no heed of the existence of more than 1,500,000 able bodied laborers in the south with dark skins, but with expanding intellect, increasing intelligence and growing ambition. While these men were slaves, working in the corn and cotton fields, in the rich swamps and on the sugar plantations of the south, the skilled labor of the northern states felt no competition from them. But since they became freedmen there has been a great change in the variety and skill of the labor performed by colored men in the south. The great mass are, of course, still engaged in agricultural work, but thousands and tens of thousands, and in fact hundreds of thousands, have entered and are entering the mechanical and semi-mechanical field. They are making pig and bar iron in Tennessee and Alabama. In fact, they are generally entering all the avenues and channels of skilled labor."

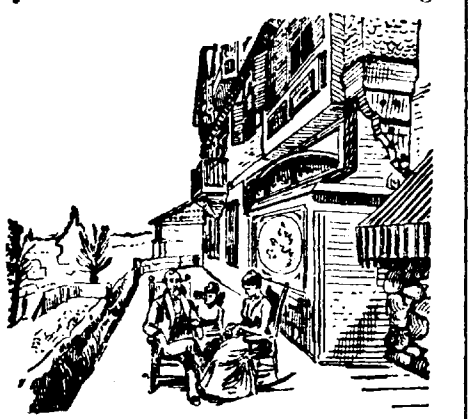

Of course they are underpaid. They receive far less than has been paid in years past to northern mechanics for similar work. They are able to take no part in making laws for their own protection, and they are consequently and inevitably unable to maintain a fair standard of wages, or to receive a fair proportion of their proper earnings. I do not dwell on this subject at length, though it could easily be presented in aggravating detail. I mention it only to place it before the labor organizations of the north, with this question addressed to them: Do you suppose that you can permanently maintain in the northern states one scale of prices, when just beyond an imaginary line on the south of us a far different scale of prices is paid for labor?

HOME AT BAR HARBOR.

Mr. Blaine has two houses, both in Maine. His winter dwelling place is in Augusta, Me., his summer mansion, and his favorite one, is that in the picture, at Bar Harbor. Mr. Blaine is well off, and his houses are what might be expected of a rich man inclined to generous hospitality. The house is a very large one, but it is called a cottage in seashore fashion. It is on the crest of one of the highest points overlooking Frenchman's bay. It is a handsome seashore house, which could be built for $20,000. It is perched upon a rock. The road to the cottage winds around the back of a hill from Bar Harbor village up through a stretch of pine scrubs over a new made gravel road to the very crest.

From this striking and artistic nook the visitor enters a large square room with furnishings rich and dark. The woodwork is of oak. A very large oval window looks out upon the water. A newspaper correspondent says of the view and of the life at the cottage:

ON THE VERANDA.

"Through this window the beauties of Frenchman's bay present a constantly shifting scene of color and light. The blue waters of the bay contrast sharply with the soft grayish blue line of the distant shores. In the foreground is the abrupt, rocky, pine-covered Bar island. A wide, covered veranda runs around the entire side of the house upon the side toward the bay. Here during the morning or afternoon will always be found a group of visitors. Cottage people drop in informally, and nearly every one of any prominence who come to Mt. Desert makes a pilgrimage to the Blaine house. The life at the cottage partakes of the easy informality of the general life at Bar Harbor. The visitor who rings the bell is quite as apt to be met at the door by some member of the family as by a servant. Mr. Blaine moves about the house, showing it with great pride to his visitors, chatting about the topics of the day, but rarely discussing politics unless he meets some old political associate who comes to talk or consult."

Mr. Blaine looks remarkably well and in good spirits this summer. He has made a large sum of money with his books. "Them that has gits, the Bible says," was a remark made by a certain spinster a long time ago.

Public Men.

General Lloyd Aspinwall, of New York, died on his farm in Rhode Island, from a stroke of apoplexy.

Gout is the ailment which afflicts Samuel J. Randall. His father and brother were killed by it.

General Sherman and Cyrus W. Field arrived at Winnipeg from a trip to the Pacific coast on the Canadian road, and left for Montreal.

President Cleveland and family drove twenty-seven miles yesterday, from Saranac to Lake Placid, where they spent the Sabbath.

At the informal reception given to Senator Logan in Chicago, it was remarked that he had now visited every state and territory in the union.

Democratic congressional conventions nominated James E. Cobb for the fifth district of Alabama, John M. Allen for the first district of Mississippi, and W. P. Taubee for the tenth district of Kentucky.

The Smallhouse property was sold this afternoon to A. B. Trentman for $19,150 by Mr. A. H. Catver, the court commissioner.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 6.—Most of the factories and stores closed in honor of "Labor Day." 25,000 workmen took part in the procession.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 6.—The demonstration of the Knights of Labor today was the largest gathering of the industrial classes ever witnessed in Baltimore.

New York, N. Y. Sept. 6.—This being a legal holiday set apart by the legislature for the laboring classes, it was celebrated by a monster parade by the different labor organizations, followed by a picnic. Every trade was represented in the procession, which was constituted, it is said, of between 25,000 and 30,000 workmen.

Saturday night a large bowler was thrown with great force through the window of a passenger coach of the Western, St. Louis and Pacific passenger train No. 43 as the train passed through Lagro. The rock passed over the head of a sleeping passenger, who would have been seriously hurt, if not killed, had he been in an upright position. There is no clew to the miscreant as yet, but the railroad authorities are determined to probe the matter to the bottom. Several attempts to wreck trains have been made in that vicinity.

A new excuse for pocket-picking has been invented in Berlin. An old gentleman, possessed of a very ample share of this world's goods, had purloined in the course of a few months no less than seventy-five beautifully embroidered ladies' handkerchiefs. He was finally discovered when pursuing the same occupation under the Linden on the Emperor's last birthday fete. Together with a number of other gentlemen of the same profession, he appeared the other day before the magistrate, who sentenced him to ten days' imprisonment. And here Dr. Friedman's (the lawyer) art steps in, for, while admitting that his client was not suffering from the convenient ailment known as kleptomania, he urged that the old gentleman was subject to a morbid state of mind, which compelled him, whenever he saw a beautiful woman, to try and obtain as a souvenir some object which had belonged to her. The old pocket-picker was acquitted, but whether the High Court was moved to compassion with the prisoner's homage to beauty, or whether the "beautiful women" were touched by it, and demanded his release, the chronicler does not say.

SIR CHARLES DILLON'S name has been erased from the list of Privy Counsellors. Such an event, it is said, has not occurred since the last century. His downfall is the more painful because so many women are affected by it, their friendship for him causing suspicion. This is particularly the case with Mrs. Rogers, whose salon has in time past been a center of very distinguished society. Her parties were noted. People intrigued for invitations to her house. But her connection with the Dilke case puts an end to her social entertainments and closes one of the pleasantest houses in London.

"LABOR"

Is Stopped in the Great Cities, And the Tilling Thousands Have a Day of Imposing Street Parades and Pleasant Picnics.

The Fire Record is Severe—A Brutal Scoundrel Caught at Evansville.

LABOR DAY.

An Event in the Industrial World.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—The annual street parade here to-day was the most noteworthy ever made by the labor organizations of Chicago, both in point of numbers and equipment. A close computation places the number of marchers in line at between 30,000 and 35,000.

Boston, Sept. 6.—Labor day, which is to be a permanent institution in Boston, annually, was inaugurated by the working men of this city and suburbs today in an imposing manner. The feature of the morning was a grand procession, some 15,000 persons participating, and it took an hour to pass a given point. A picnic with games and dancing followed.

FIRE RECORD.

MUOIE, Ind., Sept. 6.—Soon after midnight fire was discovered in L. L. Wilcox's flouring mill on South Walnut street. The fire originated in the second floor among the fast running machinery, and is supposed to have been caused by friction. The valuable machinery, and several thousand bushels of wheat were either consumed or destroyed by water. Mr. Wilcox's loss on the mill is about $5,000.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., Sept. 6. The large barn of Harry Walker, two miles east of this city, was burned this morning, with its contents, including two horses and two mules. The origin of the fire is unknown. Loss, $3,000; insurance, $1,800, in the continental of New York.

JERSEY CITY, Sept. 6.—A kerosene explosion in the Erie yard at Jersey City caused the destruction of five Pullman coaches, the northern freight depot and a large amount of miscellaneous freight. The loss will aggregate nearly $200,000. The bar and muck mills of Zug & Co's. iron works at Pittsburg were damaged $30,000 by fire.

Jay County Democrats.

DECATUR, Ind., Sept. 6.—The democracy of the Eleventh congressional district opened the state campaign at Portland Saturday. Hon. J. C. Brannan, of Huntington, addressed the crowd. He was greeted with a large and enthusiastic audience. He made an excellent speech, and by his eloquent and forcible argument placed himself in high favor. The Portland speech can not fail to give the party a big boom in the district. The Jay county democracy likewise met at Portland that day and nominated the following ticket: W. Flem'g, clerk; P. J. Smith, auditor; A. T. Lynch, sheriff; W. A. Humphrey, recorder; John Ewart and J. Nixon, commissioners.

A Baltimore Sensation.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 6.—Charles Ax, aged twenty-nine years, a son of Mr. Christian Ax, of the well known tobacco manufacturing firm of Gail & Ax, was found dead in bed yesterday morning, at his father's elegant residence, No. 280 West Lanvale street, with a bullet hole in his heart and a thirty-eight calibre revolver in his right hand. He killed himself.

A Michigan Mob.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Sept. 6.—A mob of 100 from this township visited the Misanke county jail last night to lynch Craft and Mrs. Brass, imprisoned for the murder of the woman's husband, but Sheriff McBain finally persuaded them to desist.

A Scoundrel Captured.

EVANSVILLE, Sept. 6.—Thomas F. Dyson, a hard-looking customer from Boonville, Ind., was arrested here yesterday by the police while in the act of committing an outrage on Fannie Benton, a seven-year-old girl.

Relief for Charleston.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 6.—Savannah has contributed $6,000 for the relief of the Charleston sufferers.

UNCLE SAM'S NAVY.

The New Vessels Being Built.

In the closing hours of the late session of congress an appropriation was made for the construction of four new war vessels that will equal in efficiency anything of their size afloat. So it would appear that Uncle Sam is at last taking steps toward additions to his navy that will be war ships in fact, not targets for the humorist's shots.

The navy of the United States consists now of about 100 vessels of all classes. Of these nineteen are ironclads, five are new double turreted monitors, and the rest, with some repairs, might be made serviceable for harbor defense. All the other vessels are wooden except six.

The initial ships in the new navy are the Dolphin, Atlanta, Boston and Chicago. The first two are in commission and the others will soon be finished.

The four additional vessels authorized by congress are: One steel cruiser, 4,000 tons; one steel cruiser, 3,700 tons; one steel cruiser, 1,700 tons; one gunboat, 570 tons.

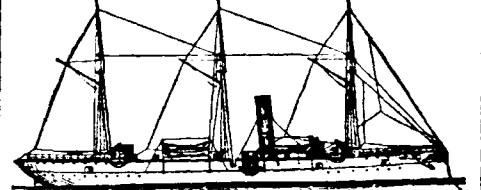

FOUR THOUSAND-TON STEEL CRUISER.

This vessel is to be 310 feet long, with 49 feet beam and a draught of 18 feet 9 inches. She will have twin screws giving her a speed of 18 knots. Her coal capacity will be 850 tons, and her complement of men will be 300. Her main battery will consist of 12 6-inch breech-loading rifled cannons. The secondary battery will possess 10 pieces of revolving cannon, besides galling guns. The battery will be mounted in sponsons on central pivot carriages supporting segmental shields 3 inches in thickness—2 under the forecastle, 2 under the poop, 4 under the main bridges and the balance amidships. Four guns will be able to concentrate within 400 feet of bow or stern, either broadside or 6 guns will concentrate on an object within 100 feet of the ship's side.

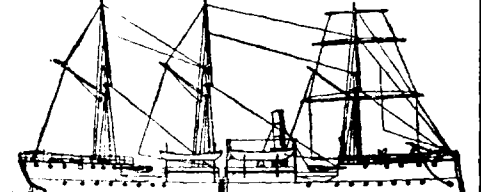

The vessel will be built of steel throughout, having a double bottom 3 feet 3 inches in depth running the entire length of the machinery space, or 120 feet. The machinery, magazines, shell rooms, torpedo rooms and steering gear are placed below an armored deck, which is 3 inches thick on its sloping sides and 2 inches on the horizontal part amidships. Above this armored deck the entire length of the vessel runs the berth deck, containing the sleeping rooms for the officers and men.

The vessel will be provided with 6 above-water torpedo-launching tubes, also electric search lights and apparatus for lighting the ship, also a complete system of forced ventilation. The protective deck will be carried up to strengthen the ram-shaped bow, which will be thoroughly stiffened and strengthened by bulkheads and breasthooks for ramming purposes. The hull will be subdivided by fore and aft and athwartship bulkheads into over 150 watertight compartments.

SEVENTEEN HUNDRED-TON STEEL CRUISER.

This boat will be in many respects a counterpart of the 4,000-ton cruiser, but with reduced destroying power. Her length will be 220 feet, beam 30 feet, draught 14 feet; twin screws, and a speed is expected of sixteen knots. Coal capacity 400 tons, complement of men 150. Her battery will consist of six 6-inch breech-loading rifles and six smaller pieces. The engines, boilers, magazines, shell room and steering gear are placed beneath a water-tight steel deck, running the entire length of the vessel. The stem will be slightly ram-shaped, and stiffened for ramming. The hull is divided into numerous water-tight compartments. All openings in the water-tight deck to machinery and magazines are protected by coffer-dams. The machinery is further protected by a belt of coal nine feet in thickness, running the entire length of the machinery space. This use of the coal in water-tight bulkheads, as an additional protection to the machinery from the shots of the enemy, is a novel idea, and will be made use of in all the future vessels of the navy.

EIGHT HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-TON GUNBOAT.

This vessel will be constructed on the composite system, viz: frames, beams, stringers and keelsons of steel, with the outer planking and decks of wood. The planking will be in two thicknesses of two and a half and three inches, and coppered. The engines and boilers are placed beneath a water-tight steel deck three-eighths of an inch in thickness, its outer edge being twenty-seven inches below the water line, rising to eight inches above at the center line amidships. The vessel is divided into numerous water-tight compartments by steel athwartship and fore and aft bulkheads, thus localizing the damage due to the hull being penetrated by shot or ramming.

Her length will be but 175 feet, beam 31 feet, draught 11 feet 10 inches; coal capacity 160 tons. One hundred men will be required to work her. The battery will consist of six guns.

The remaining one of the four vessels ordered by congress will be a duplicate of an ironclad constructed in England for the Japanese government, and which is considered one of the most effective cruisers afloat. It will be a 3,720-ton steel cruiser, possessing many of the principles of the other cruisers. Its armament consists of two 10-inch 23-ton guns, two 6-pounders and twelve machine guns.

It is proposed to get these vessels under headway as fast as possible. Their cost will be at least $5,000,000.

HE QUIT!

Prince Alexander Abdicates His Throne. 3.7.8

The Czar Bids It and Turmoil and Strife Again Begins for the Disputed Bulgaria.

Turkey is Arming and the Tone of the British Press is Very Bitter.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The Czar Arbitrator of the Whole Country.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The Morning Post says: We greatly doubt whether Prince Bismarck's policy will insure the peace of Europe. Europe will have no peace until the wrongs Russia has inflicted on the rising people are avenged. Whatever may be the reasons which induced Prince Bismarck to sacrifice Prince Alexander to the personal animosity of the Czar, we cannot believe that Europe will approve a policy tending to make the Czar arbiter of the whole continent. The Standard, commenting on Prince Alexander's abdication, says: We are convinced that Prince Bismarck will not succeed in averting an eventual struggle between Russia and Austria.

SOFIA, Sept. 6.—Before Prince Alexander announced his intention to quit the throne he received a telegram from Prince Bismarck recommending that he abdicate in order to save Bulgaria.

Prince Alexander's decision to abdicate is attributed partly to the loss of vigor of mind and body consequent to severe trials which he has undergone lately.

Prince Alexander, on Saturday, presided at a meeting representing all parties in Bulgaria. It was decided to appoint M. Stambouloff and four others to negotiate with Russia and other powers for a settlement of the Bulgarian crisis. An ordinary session of the Bulgarian chamber of deputies has been summoned to discuss the abdication. It is believed the departure of Prince Alexander from Bulgaria is likely to result in civil war.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 6.—It is rumored that in accordance with the advice given by two friendly powers, Turkey is making military preparations on the Asiatic frontier.

Cleveland to the Queen.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The president has sent the following reply to Queen Victoria's telegram of sympathy for the earthquake sufferers:

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, Sept. 4, '86. To Queen Victoria and Empress, Balmoral, Scotland:

Your majesty's expression of sympathy for sufferers by the earthquake is warmly appreciated and awakes a grateful response in American hearts.

Yellow Fever in New York.

THE TICKET.

The Gentlemen Presented for the Suffrage of Democrats.

THE SENTINEL will not at this time attempt to appraise the disappointments and soothe the regrets that necessarily attend a political convention. Time and party ties must bury them and there is no reason why they should not. The personal of the ticket nominated at the county convention Saturday is far better than has been nominated on many former occasions. The men are all well known, many of them having been born and raised in this county. Another point strong in their favor is that they are all hard workers. There is not a lazy man in the lot and we can safely say for them that if they work as hard and diligent for the election as they did for the nomination, they will have the largest majority ever known since the organization of the county. Saturday's battle was a hard but square one and the victors earned honestly the laurels won.
A sketch of the candidates follows:

J. M. BARRETT
the nominee for state senator, is a resident of Fort Wayne and a young man of the highest intellectual attainments. He is a graduate of Michigan University and an honor to the legal profession. Recognized as one of the foremost attorneys at the Allen county bar, he is a forcible public speaker, of pleasant address, and has the courage of his convictions. The convention could not have selected a more popular or brilliant standard bearer than Mr. Barrett, and the people of Allen county can rest assured that he will win fame and favors for his constituents in the Indiana state senate, where no truer, trustier, or more agreeable representative ever sat.

W. H. SHAMBAUGH,
one of the nominees for the representative in the lower house of the legislature, is a rising young attorney and already he has won local favor as a public speaker. Mr. Shambaugh has a clear legal head and good judgment. He is trustworthy and will represent the people with satisfaction and distinction.
Mr. Shambaugh was born and raised on a farm in this county, and his present position he has won by his individual exertions and honest endeavors, facts that commend him to the common people.

AUSTIN M. DARROCH,
of Aboit township, is the second nominee for representative. Mr. Darroch has been prominent in democratic councils for years. He is a successful farmer and a clear headed, straightforward gentleman. Mr. Darroch is in thorough sympathy with the party and the legislative portion of the ticket meets with universal favor and approval in every way.

S. M. HENCH
is the candidate for judge of the superior court. His record as prosecutor is one of the brightest pages of official excellence in the county history, and since his elevation to the position of judge he has likewise won distinction and honor.
He is fair, fearless and frank. The rich and poor, guilty and innocent can rely that at his hands they will receive equal and exact justice. He has a fine legal mind and every act of his denotes thought, study and careful research.

The supreme court has frequently attested his worth, and as long as judicial purity is valued, Mr. Hensch will be honored.

J. M. ROBINSON,
the nominee for states attorney, illustrates the possibilities of this republic.
He was born and raised on a farm in Pleasant township, and began life humbly in the Pittsburg railroad shops.
Then he studied law in the office of Hon. W. G. Colerick and was admitted to the Allen county bar after passing a most creditable and satisfactory examination. Mr. Robinson has that tenacity and force of character that wins. He has surmounted all the obstacles that are against a poor boy, and it is safe to say he will conduct the pleas of the state satisfactorily, thoroughly and severely.

DR. GEORGE W. LOAG,
the democratic nominee for clerk, is personally very popular. He is warm-hearted, impulsive and generous, with steadfast friends. The doctor is entirely competent for the position of county clerk and his pleasant ways and business tact promise us such an administration of the important place for which he was nominated, that with universal accord,
his selection is looked on with favor.
Doctor Loag has been for years a leading dentist, he too having risen from an humble place in life to one of distinction in his profession. The gentleman is a hustler and will make as good an officer as ever served the people. He has been a resident of Fort Wayne for more than twenty-five years.

J. B. NEIZER,
the nominee for auditor, is a successful business man at Monroeville. He was born and raised in Milan township and knows almost every democratic voter in the county. Mr. Neizer keeps a tin and hardware store at Monroeville, and this again is mentioned to say that his apprenticeship was served in Fort Wayne.
He is a very strong man, with splendid executive ability and acknowledged worth. He is thoroughly honorable and the important office of auditor can be placed in his hands with the utmost confidence that every trust will be faithfully fostered and every interest of the people watched with the care that characterizes his own business.

MILTON N. THOMPSON,
of Jefferson township, was nominated for recorder. His was probably the most satisfactory selection of all, for as the oldsters climbed on the stage with his crush every heart beat with warmth for him and he won the convention to him by degrees. Mr. Thompson is in every way fitted for the trust and probably no nicer tribute could be paid him than Mr. Bell did when he said: "Mr.
Thompson, a man who left a leg upon the battlefield at Bentonville, who was a gallant soldier in the 88th Indiana, who was turned out of office by a republican administration, and is now nominated by the mass of the gallant old democracy of Allen county, will be your next recorder."

ISAAC MOWREY,
of St. Joe township, is the nominee for treasurer. He is a successful farmer and a man in every way calculated to make a good county treasurer. He is careful, conscientious and thorough in everything he does. He has a clear business mind and in his charge the finances of the county will be as safe as in a bank. Mr. Mowrey is well and favorably known and his character is such as to commend him highly for the place and certainly no better man can be found in the county.

DEGROFF NELSON,
the nominee for sheriff, was selected by acclamation. He has been an admirable officer, and likewise was born and raised in this county. Mr. Nelson's administration has been so honest, thorough and graceful that not a murmur is heard against it. He is always willing and always ready to serve the people every hour of the day and night. No duty or task is too arduous for him. He is one of the most popular men ever chosen to office and every act of his is clean and honest, winning him friends everywhere.

DR. J. M. DINNEN,
the candidate for coroner, is a prominent physician and surgeon, who has climbed to the top in his profession. Dr. Dinnen has been a careful officer and no better man than he was ever elected coroner of Allen county. The doctor is not a politician and this should commend him
more highly to the people.

O. B. WILEY,
the candidate for surveyor, was nominated by acclamation and was born in the homestead now occupied by Mr.
Patrick Ryan, on Barr street. He comes of a good family and enjoys a personal popularity not surpassed by any young man. He is a competent civil engineer and so honorable and reliable that every act of his is as correct as the alphabet.
In all his transactions he has been fair and square and is the right man for the place to which he aspires.

HENRY HARTMAN
is a resident of Adams township and was nominated for commissioner for the First district. He has served one term as commissioner and so satisfactory has been his administration that he was not opposed for the place. He is an honest man, and impresses one as being just as earnest in his public work as he is in his own. He is president of one of the best boards of commissioners that ever served a people.

Tired, Languid, Dull
Exactly expresses the condition of thousands of people at this season. The depressing effects of warm weather and the weariness of the body, can only be corrected by the use of a reliable tonic and blood purifier like Hood's Sarsaparilla. Why suffer longer when a remedy is so close at hand? Take Hood's Sarsaparilla now. It will give you undoubted wealth in health, strength and energy.

JULIEN HAWTHORNE, the novelist,
took the law into his own hands at Sag Harbor, L. I., two years ago, and severely punished a neighbor's boy who was mischief-making on his premises.
Ever since then, Mr. Hawthorne says,
the neighbors have been in league
against him; his own cattle have died and strange animals have been let loose in his most cherished gardens. Now Mr. Hawthorne is to shake the dust of Sag Harbor from his feet and leave the place forever—which is exactly what the neighbors want.

Invalid's Hotel and Surgical In- stitute.

cated at Buffalo, N. B., is organized

HORACE SMITH, of Salisbury, Conn., now 92 years of age, was a teacher in that town in 1816—seventy-three years ago. Mr. Smith was born in the first frame house built in Salisbury, and he has lived to see seventy grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. He attended a teachers' reunion a few days ago, and in all the throng he could find no one of his contemporaries, not even a pupil.

A QUEER STORY.

The Psychic Experience of a London Author.
(Special Correspondence.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—At the house of a literary friend of Brooklyn a few weeks ago I met Mr. and Mrs. Gustafson, of London. Mr. Gustafson won fame in England and also in this country by his book on the drink question entitled "The Foundation of Death." His wife, Zadel Barnes Gustafson, American born and brought up, is a poet and magazineist of distinction, and while in this country is the special representative of The Fall Mail Gazette. Mr. Gustafson is a tall, dark-haired Swede, who retains enough accent of his native tongue to mark his nationality distinctly. He talks as well as he writes, though not so well as his handsome wife, a young-faced beauty with gray hair.

After the larger part of the company left, the remaining few of us, feeling relieved from the constraint which is the unavoidable flavoring of the atmosphere of a large company, found ourselves chatting without reserve in the happiest manner imaginable. At such times conversation is really spontaneous. Bright thoughts, interesting experiences, humorous adventures come forth in attractive form and with spirited step move about for the entertainment of those who called them forth.

Somewhat said something about the superstition of the Norwegians regarding sleep. "Is it true, Mr. Gustafson," asked another, "that they never wake anybody from sleep, for fear of hurting the soul, which they believe to be away from the body when one sleeps?"

"Yes; when the spirit travels they think it should be permitted to finish its journey. A sudden awakening is a shock."

"How I wish I lived in Norway," said a tired woman, who looked as though she could take a six months' uninterrupted nap if the cares of life would but permit her.

Then the talk drifted toward the psychic and mysterious, and Mr. Gustafson told this story:

"Some years ago I was visiting my home in Sweden. My sister was to be married in a few weeks and was anxious to have me remain for the wedding. Though I wanted to do so, I could not. Business affairs called me back to London a month before the wedding occurred, and I did not see my sister again for five years. Then, when I went to visit her and her husband, after greeting me, she said: 'Oh, brother, I have always been so grateful to you for coming to my wedding, although you stayed such a very, very short time.'"

"I, knowing that I had not been there, and believing she was teasing me, said, 'Come to your wedding, indeed; you know very well I wanted to come, if I did not.'"

"Oh, to be sure, you were not here for the ceremony, but you were here a little while in the afternoon, and I have always felt so grateful to you, for I know it must have cost you ever so much trouble."

Seeing that she was quite serious, and not wishing to startle her by a denial of the pleasant change of being where I had not, but should like to have been, and where I ought, if possible, to have been, I begged that she would tell me all about it, as five years had somewhat impaired my memory of the incident.

"Why, you know, brother, when you were entering the gate Axel (her husband) and I saw you and hurried to meet you. I kissed you and so did Axel. We walked, holding your arms, to a summer house and sat down. But you surely remember?"

"No, not clearly. Go on and tell me all about it."

"Well, Christina, (the old housekeeper, who had known me since I was an infant) came down, and was delighted to see you."

A MEXICAN ART TREASURE.

The Newly Discovered Statue of Hercules Reputed to Be by Phidias.

We are enabled to present our readers an engraving from a photograph of the statue of Hercules, recently discovered in Mexico. This magnificent piece of art work is of jasper, and three feet in height, and is supposed to be the work of the famous Greek sculptor, Phidias. It represents the maddened Hercules, throwing the slave, Lycas, into the sea. Lycas was sent with a message from Hercules' deserted wife. That the reception the messenger received from Hercules was more than warm is the inference one would draw from the action which the sculptor has shown in such a masterly manner.

THE MAXIMILIAN HERCULES.

This treasure was discovered in a pawnshop by a Catholic priest, Padre Giovanni Gismonti. The great padre visited this shop with a young student for the purpose of redeeming some clothes and books that the latter had been obliged to pawn for bread. On seeing the statue the priest would not let it being in such a place. On inquiry he found that sixteen years before it had been brought there and $25 borrowed on it. The priest was too poor to buy it, so he went away and informed a wealthy gentleman that the statue was from the hand of a master. The gentleman purchased it at the priest's earnest solicitation, and he soon after found that he was in possession of one of the art treasures of this continent. Padre Gismonti, who by the way is a nephew of the late Pope Pius Nono, is an archeologist of considerable knowledge; he unearthed the statue's history which proves to be this: It was discovered in the ruins of Pompeii some forty years ago and was presented by the king of Naples to the mother of Maximilian. On the latter's acceptance of the throne of Mexico it was given to him. On the day of his death, in 1867, the statue disappeared from the palace in some manner and was not heard of until Padre Gismonti unearthed it. It is likely that there may be legal and possibly international disputes over the possession of this treasure.

If you have a friend with a cough or cold tell him to try Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price 25cts.

"Mamma, papa says you weren't pretty last week, but you are to day." "Ah! my child, last week I had neuralgia, to day I have Salvation Oil."

COL. ROBERT INGERSOLL

naturally contradicts the report that he is to lecture on Shakespeare next season, but half confessed that he may have given authority for the statement. "Whatever a man says is not always true," says the Colonel. "We all make mistakes. No one is infallible."

ANSON HUGH, of Blackberry, Ills., says he owes his life to Gilmore's Magnetic Elixir. Try it.

MR. A. HIGGINS, of Wyoming, N. Y., says he had the piles for nearly 40 years, and was cured by using Gilmore's Pile specific.

WHY WILL YOU SUFFER from ague and malaria when Gilmore's Aromatic Wine will cure you.

GILMORE'S NEURALGIA CURE is a positive cure for neuralgia in the face, side and stomach.

JOHN H. YATES, of Batavia, N. Y., says: "I cheerfully commend your AROMATIC WINE. It did new life and vigor send through this weak frame of mine. It did for all my stomach ills. More than the doctor and his pills."

For sale by Dreier & Bro's, and G. H. Gumpfer.

John C. Shoemaker is accused of selling stationary and printing to the prison north without consulting the state bureau of printing as the law directs. The amount involved is $253.

Beware of Scrofula

Scrofula is probably more general than any other disease. It is insidious in character, and manifests itself in running sores, pustular eruptions, boils, swellings, enlarged joints, abscesses, sore eyes, etc. Hood's Sarsaparilla expels all trace of scrofula from the blood, leaving it pure, enriched, and healthy.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles Hood's Sarsaparilla, and am cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

C. A. Arnold, Arnold, Me., had scrofulous sores for seven years, spring and fall. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured him.

Salt Rheum

Is one of the most disagreeable diseases caused by impure blood. It is readily cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

William Spies, Elyria, O., suffered greatly from erysipelas and salt rheum, caused by handling tobacco. At times his hands would crack open and bleed. He tried various preparations without aid; finally took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and now says: "I am entirely well."

"My son had salt rheum on his hands and on the calves of his legs. He took Hood's Sarsaparilla and is entirely cured." J. B. Stanton, Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Capt. Scott Swann Saturday sued the Detroit Free Press for $30,000 damages for defamation of character and libel, involving him in a social scandal, which THE SENTINEL refrained from referring to. The Free Press again attacks him viciously Saturday.

Hon. R. C. Bell made an admirable presiding officer at the convention Saturday. He is a finished parliamentarian and his commanding presence turned everything in the convention into good will and harmony. He was just and fair to all sides and his work does Chairman John Wilkinson honor, as he first suggested his name.

Engineer John McCole, for fourteen years in the service of the Wabash company, and one of the fast-line engineers, left the service last week. Mr. McCole was a familiar figure on the road, large in person and heart, genial and clever. The announcement of his retirement is regretted by hosts of friends along the entire main line.

The Wabash has created the position of traveling fireman on the eastern district, and P. J. Quinn, recently on passenger locomotive 1,075, with Engineer Saur, has been appointed to the place. The duties of the office are to instruct the firemen, see that they do their work properly, and Mr. Quinn is under the orders of Traveling Engineer George Shorey.

The Logansport Journal, (rep.) says: "It is generally understood that Colonel Robertson, of Fort Wayne, was nominated against Judge Nelson because of his ability to meet that gentleman on the various fields where Nelson will attempt to develop additional strength during the coming canvass. For instance Nelson is a soldier and so is Robertson. Nelson is a secret society man and so is Robertson. Nelson is a power at the Sabbath school picnic and so is Robertson."

An old shoemaker accidentally set fire to his bed under C. Leibenguth's saloon, last night and the fire department was called to the blaze, which did no damage. The department responded from both houses.

Pittsburg passenger train No. 9 struck a buggy at Valparaiso last night, instantly killing Wm. Riley, a nephew of Peter Riley, of this city. The accident was caused by Mr. Riley's own carelessness and the engineer of the train is not to be made responsible.

They are simply operating a side show to the republican congressional circus with Farmer Stanley as the clown.

Hon. Andrew M. Sweeney today visited the public schools and was heartily received. Mr. Sweeney was a poor boy at Indianapolis, and his own words attest that the public schools helped him to prominence and honor, consequently this grand educational feature of the Hoosier government has no more ardent champion than he.

Though this is the beginning of September, summer is not ended, for according to the almanac, it has three weeks to run yet. According to astronomical calculations spring began on the 20th of March, and summer on the 21st of June, while autumn begins on the 22d day of September, and winter on the 21st of December, this year. The Lafayette Courier publishes an interview with Colonel D. N. Foster, of this city, giving his views on California its resources and people. He says the Chinese emigration ought to stop, but the country could not well dispense with the 150,000 Chinese already here. They are not quarrelsome, malicious or lazy, but peaceful, industrious and reliable. Irrigation, he says, is to become the great question of state politics. Land not worth a nickel per acre without water is worth from $100 to $300 per acre as soon as water for irrigation can be procured. Water monopolies have sprung up all over that section of country, and before these monopolies can be overcome, fierce political contests must be fought.

He is a Democrat.

Editor of THE SENTINEL.

Certain parties are circulating a report that I am rather sore and will bolt the ticket because I withdrew. I want to say that I am a democrat from principle and not office. I went into the race to win, but had not enough strength. I was beaten squarely and honorably. I propose taking off my coat and working for the straight democratic ticket from now until the election.

Believe me, as ever, a true democrat.

Yours,

EDWARD BREKMAN.

The celebrated Dr. Tanner, who made quite a stir several years ago by a prolonged fast of forty days, is now a member of the community of Faithists at Shalam, N. M. In a recent letter he lays down the broad proposition that nine-tenths of all the crime and disease in this world is due to the human stomach. Keep the stomach undefiled with meat, especially free from the flesh of the swine, and there is hope that man may live up to his highest aspirations. This is the doctrine that the Faithists are trying to enforce practically in their colony, but the result thus far has not been encouraging. The community is rent with jealousies and dissensions, which go far to show that a purely vegetable diet will not eliminate the minor passions, whatever effect it may have upon the great ones.

IT IS A GO.

Work on the Federal Building Extension to Begin in Ten Days.

John G. McNutt, assistant United States attorney, writes Hon. Robert Lowry for abstracts of title to the lot purchased from Mr. George DeWald for an extension to the government building on East Berry street. This gives the structure an additional frontage of thirty feet to be finished similarly to the Clinton street side. Supervising Architect Bell also writes that plans for the new addition will be ready for contractors to bid on in ten days and then work will be pushed quickly to the end. All money is ready to complete the work, thanks to Congressman Lowry, and a democratic administration that gave us a structure one third larger than the plans submitted by republicans.

W. D. Bynum was squarely nominated for congress in the Indianapolis district Saturday and is supported without a dissenting voice.

The comparative statement of the total number of Wabash cars sent out of the Andrews yards August 1885 and 1886, shows an increase of 1413 loads during the latter period.

The local stock trade in this vicinity was good last Saturday, one car being shipped from Andrews, four from Huntington, and five from Roanoke; all of which went to Buffalo via New Haven and the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railway.

The republicans are getting out a map showing that they cannot elect a republican legislature this year and consequently will lose a United States senator. It is too bad about them.

The eleventh district republican congressional convention will be held at Peru on Tuesday, Sept. 7; the thirteenth district at Goshen, Sept. 16, and the ninth district at Lafayette, Tuesday, Sept. 14.

Prison fare at the prison north ought to be first rate, and the wonder is that any convict should ever run away from such "grub." The last annual report shows that in January the warden bought among other things, 48,700 pound of flour, 1,600 pounds of sugar, 575 pounds of coffee, 7,500 pounds of tenderloins, mutton and fresh beef, 206 pounds of butter, 24,000 pounds of meal, etc. This is about the quantity of these articles consumed monthly on an average.

No other remedy has been discovered that is a real cure for either of these terrible diseases. Athlophoros is not an experiment, it has been tried and its value proved by thousands of people all over the United States. No remedy has ever been put on the market that has brought such universal relief to sufferers from rheumatism and neuralgia. Athlophoros is absolutely safe to take and will surely bring relief. If you doubt its merits send for names of persons in your own State who have been cured by its use.

Ask your druggist for Athlophoros. If you cannot get it of him we will send it express paid on receipt of regular price—$1.00 per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist but if he hasn't it do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.

A QUEER STORY.

The Psychic Experience of a London Author.

Special Correspondence.

New York, Aug. 20.—At the house of a literary friend of the author, a few weeks ago I met Mr. and Mrs. Gustafson of London. Mr. Gustafson was born in England and also in this country by his back on the drink question called "the foundation of health." His wife, Zaida, is a native of America, born and brought up, is a poet and a novelist of distinction, and while in this country is the special representative of The Fall Mall Gazette. Mr. Gustafson is a tall, dark-haired Swede, who retains enough accent of his native tongue to make his conversation distinctly English as well as he writes, though not so well as his handsome wife, a young-faced beauty with gray hair.

After the larger part of the company left, the remaining few of us, feeling relieved from the constraint which is the unavoidable flaying of the atmosphere of a large company, found ourselves chatting without reserve in the happiest manner imaginable. As such times are rare in really spontaneous, bright thoughts, interesting experiences, but serious adventures come forth in attractive form, and with a spirit of story more about for the entertainment of those who called them forth.

Somebody said something about the superstition of the Norsemen regarding sleep. "Is it true, Mr. Gustafson," asked another, "that they never wake anybody from sleep, for fear of hurting the soul, which they believe to be away from the body when one sleeps?"

"Yes, when the spirit travels they think it should be permitted to finish its journey. A sudden awakening is a shock."

"How I wish I lived in Norway," said a third person, who asked us though she could take a six months' unintermitted nap if the cares of life would but permit her.

Then the talk drifted toward the psychic and mysterious, and Mr. Gustafson told this story:

Some years ago I was visiting my home in Sweden. My sister was to be married in a few weeks and was anxious to have me remain for the wedding. Though I wanted to do so, I could not. Business affairs called me back to London a month before the wedding generally, and I did not see my sister again for five years. Then, when I went to visit her and her husband, after greeting me, she said: "Oh, brother, I have always been so grateful to you for coming to my wedding, although you stayed such a very, very short time."

"I, knowing that I had not been there, and believing she was teasing me, said, 'Come to my wedding, indeed? You know very well I wanted to come. If I did not!'

"Oh, to be sure, you would have been here," she said, "but you were here a little while in the afternoon, and I have always felt so grateful to you, for I know it must have cost you over so much trouble."

"Seeing that she was quite serious, and not visiting to startle her by a dream of the pleasant change of being where I had not, but should like to have been, and where I ought, if possible, to have been, I begged that she would tell me, all about it, as five years had somewhat impaired my memory of the incident."

"Why, you know, brother, when you were entering the gate to Axel and I heard and I saw you and hurried to meet you, I kissed you and so did Axel. We walked, holding your arms, to a summer house and got down. But you surely remember."

"No, not clearly. Go on and tell me all about it."

"Well, Christmas, the old housekeeper, who had known me since I was an infant came down, and was delighted to see you."

A MEXICAN ART TREASURE.

The Newly Discovered Statue of Hercules Reported to Be by Phidias.

We are enabled to present our readers an engraving from a photograph of the statue of Hercules, recently discovered in Mexico. This magnificent piece of art work is of ivory, and shows the hero in a heroic pose, with the work of the famous Greek sculptor, Phidias. It represents the hero Hercules, throwing the snake, Lycas, into the sea. Lycas was sent with a message from Hercules' deserted wife. That the reception of the messenger revived from Hercules was more than warm is the inference one would draw from the action which the sculptor has shown in such a masterly manner.

"What! Did Christina see me and talk to me?"

"Yes, surely. Don't you remember?"

"No, not exactly. Tell me, did I eat or drink while here?"

"You drank some syrup, but you did not stay to drink. Yes, and you made a speech."

"I made a speech? Why, what did I say?"

"Oh, we have it written down. Axel wrote it down, and we have it yet."

"What is the name of the speech?"

"That is the name of the speech. You would not go up stairs, although we urged you."

"How did I leave? I cannot remember."

"Suddenly and rather mysteriously. You and my husband and I started to walk. We reached a corner and you suddenly left us. We did not see you go, but when we turned around you were no longer with us and not in sight. We supposed you had gone to the house. But you had not, and we saw you no more."

"Did the people we met look at us much when we were walking together?"

"Yes, but I never thought of it until now. Everybody stared at us with the greatest interest. I am sure I don't know why. You were looking exceedingly well, and were well dressed, as a matter of course."

"Then I told her that I had not been there at all; that I was not even out of London at the time. She could not believe it. At last she said:

"Why, brother, if you were not really here then, perhaps you are not now. You are not in the least different from what you seemed to be then."

"I assured her that I was there in the flesh, and not likely to vanish suddenly. We talked over the mysterious visit. Her husband, the housekeeper, and such of the guests as saw me corroborated the story. The speech I was said to have made was read to me. It was quite new to me. I had no recollection of ever thinking of any part of it."

"How do you explain it?" some one asked.

"I don't explain it. It is perfectly incomprehensible to me."

"Perhaps it is a case of those strange appearances of the spirit with the body sleep, which the Norsemen believe in," another suggested.

"But I wasn't asleep. My wife and I distinctly remembered that on my sister's wedding day we worked very hard all day."

"Was anything of the kind ever told of you before or since?" I asked.

"Yes," answered Mr. Gustafson, "early in London asserts that I once spent an hour in her prison, in company with other guests, when I wasn't there at all."

"Who can explain it? Surely there are many things in heaven and earth that are dreamt of in our own philosophy."

Beware of Scrofula

Scrofula is probably more general than any other disease. It is insidious in character, and manifests itself in various ways, particularly eruptions, boils, swellings, enlarged joints, rheumatism, etc. Hood's Sarsaparilla expels all traces of scrofula from the blood, leaving it pure, enriched, and healthy.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and over a year had lived running around on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and am cured." G. L. Arnold, Lowell, Mass.

G. A. Arnold, Arnold, Me., had scrofula sores for seven years, spring and fall. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured him.

Salt Rheum

Is one of the most distressing diseases caused by impure blood. It is really cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

William Hix, Eliza, O., suffered greatly from erysipelas and salt rheum, caused by handling tobacco. At times his hands would crack open and bleed. He tried various preparations without avail. Finally took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and now says: "I am entirely well."

"My son had salt rheum on his hands and on the calves of his legs. He took Hood's Sarsaparilla and is entirely cured." J. B. Stanton, Mt. Vernon, Ohio.
